The Last of the Loan
OF THE
CHICAGO, DANVILLE & VINCENNES
Railroad Company.

TO CAREFUL INVESTORS.

It is seldom that Mortgages upon new Railroads are considered sufficiently safe for the investment of Trust Funds. It is only when a Railroad is earning, net, an excess of its interest obligations, with a certainty of a steady growth, that its Bonds can be said to be perfectly safe.

The CHICAGO, DANVILLE AND VINCENNES RAILROAD is doing this, and has its certainty. That part of it known as the ILLINOIS DIVISION (from Chicago to Danville, 132 Miles,) was finished last year, and its gross earnings have increased from $34,464.07 in December, 1871, to $57,587.95 in August, 1872.

The net earnings for August were $30,412.46, or at the rate of $364,949.52 per annum. The total interest liability upon the total issue of Bonds upon both the Illinois and Indiana divisions is $280,000, gold. The Illinois Division is, therefore, earning, net, more than enough to pay interest upon the entire bonded debt upon the whole road.

THE INDIANA DIVISION,

is about eighty miles in length, traversing extensive Bituminous Coal fields, and making a direct (and the shortest possible) line between Chicago and the Block Coal district at Brazil.

The Iron and other materials for the Indiana Division have all been bought and paid for in cash; a part of it is now in operation, and the entire Division is to be finished this season and opened to a profitable business.

The company is now in debt, and owns a large and very valuable real estate in Chicago, beside having an equipment of twenty-three first-class locomotives and about 700 cars.

A first mortgage upon such a road, at the rate of $18,500 per mile is a safe investment, and we know of no other railroad bond, at the price asked for this, that can demonstrate a similar value as a security for savings banks and others.

We have sold nearly two millions of these bonds to savings banks, trust companies and the most careful investors, and have but $350,000 bonds remaining.

They are for $1,000 each, and have forty years to run. Interest, payable April and October. Present price 90 and accrued interest from October 1st in currency.

7 PER CENT. GOLD,

The last week of our sales of ILLINOIS DIVISION BONDS amounted to $500,000. Early orders are therefore suggested, in order to secure any portion of this extremely desirable loan.

For further particulars, statement of earnings, maps of the line, &c., apply to

DEMOCRATIC APATHY.

(From the Boston Globe.)

There are some Liberal Republican organs which decline to take stock in the New York Tribune's Credit Mobilier of fraud as a satisfactory reason for the overwhelming defeat of the coalitionists in the recent State elections. They prefer to repudiate the vast and silly pretence of universal cheating from Maine to Indiana, and to seek the reason for the great disaster in some other direction. Thus the New York Sport of the Times, an earnest supporter of the Cincinnati ticket, is impelled by candor to declare that the idea that their recent defeat in Pennsylvania and Ohio was solely by the corrupt use of money, is puerile and absurd. As in Maine and Vermont, so in Pennsylvania and Ohio, it says the Democrats did not turn out and vote, and that the apparent weakness of the Liberal Republican strength is really due to that cause. "Had the Democrats gone to work in earnest," says the Spirit, "instead of waiting to see the end of the Louisville pantomime, they might have saved both Pennsylvania and Ohio to the Liberal cause." To the apathy of the Democrats solely does it attribute the defeat in aggregate in these two important States. But that journal finds some comfort yet in the consideration that the opportunity is not quite lost, and that there is yet time to rectify the error.

This rose-colored view of the strength and efficiency of the Liberal Republican element in making up the coalition vote must be quite satisfactory to that branch of the hybrid party but whether the "fierce Democracy" will be altogether pleased with it is a different question. It is rather hard that the Democrats should be accused of apathy and blamed for the great disaster, when they have done their very best to carry the ticket which Cincinnati imposed upon them. It was not their fault that the Presidential candidate was so distasteful to the Democratic stomach that they could get up no enthusiasm for him. They tried as hard as they could to concentrate their forces and make them shout for Greeley. They went through all the motions and played the part of zealous patriots to perfection, but the masses would not respond. They were dumb and lifeless, and there was no help for it. Notwithstanding all the boasting of the Liberal Republican leaders and their candidates the magnificent exhibits they made of their strength on paper and the daily assurances of tidal waves, burning prairies and popular uprisings, there were no signs of enthusiasm among the Democrats, generally so impressible when the ticket is right. But yet they voted,—largely, and with the resignation of martyrs, because they believed in the duty of "voting the regular ticket."

Whatever of respectability there is in the number of votes given to the coalition candidates in the States which have voted is due to Democratic support, and not to the so-called Liberal Republicans, and as many Democrats have cast their ballots for the regular Republican candidates, and quite a few have stayed away from the polls through disgust at the coalition movement, it is just what might have been expected. When the combination of discordant elements was first made we predicted that it would drive off more Democrats than it would win Republicans, and the October results have partially verified the November election will fully prove the truth of our prediction. The Democrats who have sacrificed their party manhood and joined the coalition for the sake of winning, may well turn upon the Liberal Republican managers and demand of them, where are the men and supplies which you promised to contribute to the common army? A few pretentious and pompous leaders, with tall plumes, have indeed joined the array but where are the rank and file? where are the hundreds of thousands of dissatisfied Republicans who were to join the coalition host? Where is the military chest which the Liberal Republicans were to supply for the expenses of the war? The mighty promises of men and means have not been kept, and the "old war horses" of the Democratic host have not only been forced to go forth at their own charges, with such scanty followings as they could muster in so lifeless a cause, but also to pay the campaign charges of such mercenary leaders, without followers, as Schurz, Kilpatrick, Hassaurek and Banks. In such a state of affairs it seems hardly fair for the ally who has failed to bring his quota into the field to charge apathy upon his confederates, as the cause of a defeat due solely to the inherent weakness of the enterprise itself.

According to the Philadelphia correspondent of the Tribune there is also treachery as well as apathy to be charged to Democrats. He writes that many of the Democratic leaders "sold out their friends, and that the terms of the bargains are in many cases coming out. This may all be so, for the Liberals know their own associates the best, but if it be true, it is only what is sure to happen where corrupt bargains like the coalition are the common basis of action. Such conspiracies would be powerful for evil were it not for the compensating weakness of internal treachery. Perfidy is ever faithless to itself and betrays its own associates as quickly as it would the common foe. It was a keen perception of this which led Addison to declare that conspiracies should be no sooner formed than executed. And thus, if treachery has played its part in the ranks of the coalition, the Greeleyites must accept the situation with the best grace they can.

The Wilmington Commercial protests against the classification which puts down Delaware as one of the States to be conceded to Greeley. It says "Delaware is not certain for Greeley. On the contrary it is altogether likely to vote for Grant, and, at the very worst, must be classified as doubtful. We mean this, seriously. Delaware cannot be claimed as a Greeley State." We hope the people of Delaware will see to it that it is put in the Grant column on the 5th of November.

PROGRESS OF CIVILIZATION. Two of the men wounded by the Greeley procession, in Baltimore, for the crime of shouting for Grant, have died. The colored of Baltimore are going through the farce of looking for the murderers. There is little danger of their being [illegible], and none of their being punished.

LOSS OF A LAKE STEAMER.

The steamer Lac La Belle, which left Milwaukee Sunday night, sprung a leak and went down, as briefly stated in our dispatches yesterday. The Second Engineer of the steamer who was in one of the boats which put off from the sinking vessel and safely arrived at Racine, gives the following account of the disaster.—

The steamer left Milwaukee at 9 o'clock Sunday night. About midnight she sprung a leak and made water rapidly. There were about twenty five passengers on board, including seven ladies and three children. The crew worked hard all night to prevent the vessel from sinking and threw considerable cargo overboard, but all to no purpose. Finding the steamer about to sink they prepared to take to the life boats, of which there were five. Into one of these five of the ladies were put, with a good crew to manage it. The men were very tired, having worked all night with nothing to eat and suffering from the cold. When the life boat left the steamer I saw five men left on her, when she went down I saw four of them in the water and one clinging to a piece of timber, I think they must have been lost, as we could give them no assistance without danger of swamping the boat. Two of the five boats drifted towards Kenosha.

W Sanderson, clerk of the Lac la Belle says

We left Milwaukee at 9 o'clock on Sunday night, having on board nineteen full passengers and two children, with a crew of thirty two men, all told. About midnight, when twenty-five miles off Racine, the sea was running heavily and we shipped a heavy sea amidships, which put out the fires and stopped the engines. It was blowing hard from the north and when the vessel lost headway the wind swung her around and the heavy sea strained opened the seams through which the water rushed with such force that in spite of all the efforts of the crew it gained upon us and at about 5 30 A. M., it became evident that the steamer would go down. There were five boats in all, two life boats, a yawl and two small boats. We got all the people into these boats with the exception of five or six men who refused to leave the vessel and who I think, were drowned when she went down. I had in my boat seven persons—Petter Weller, M Warner and wife, Robert Fogg, Lewis Ochester, and Rebecca Campbell. We landed six miles south of Racine at 6 o clock Monday evening, having been over twelve hours on the water. During the forenoon a propeller with two smoke-stacks passed quite near us but made no response to our signals although I am confident she saw us. Two of the five boats have arrived, mine and one commanded by the second engineer. The engineer's boat had ten of the crew including the first and second cooks and night watchman, one passenger and a boy—twelve persons in all.

The five boats with the passengers and crew of the ill fated steamer have all been heard from. Two boats landed at Racine, one at Kenosha and one was picked up by schooner Floretta off Waukegan, and one landed at Calumet, Illinois, Tuesday morning. It is thought that at least a half dozen persons went down with the vessel.

ADVERTISING.—Concerning advertising, there is a great deal of positive humbug. We say "humbug," because the word "fraud" does not fully cover the case. Advertising is unquestionably one great secret of success. But it must be judicious advertising. Some men want to buy advertising as the vulgar buy pictures, looking to the quantity, not the quality. Of course, what is called "large advertising" pays, but only, however, when done with good judgment. For instance, it is not good judgment, except in very rare cases, to advertise at any price in cheap issues, or charitable publications that are given away. They are seldom read. Next in worthlessness as a vehicle comes the ordinary almanac. These are manufactured to a most surprising extent, and the investment is immensely profitable to apothecaries and paper dealers. The man of paper co-operating with the man of pills, makes the whole almanac business one of mutual profit. Our collector, on the Hudson, to our positive knowledge, has bought, within the last few weeks, no less than ten tons of almanacs, which were sent out to country apothecaries for distribution. There is also one wholesale druggist in New York City who sells these things regularly by the ton, instead of sending them out to customers. This is only one of the ways in which injudicious advertisers waste their money. Advertisers should remember that a circulation of ten or fifteen thousand in an unexceptionable medium is worth vastly more than a hundred thousand through the medium of a questionable agent. Printing is not advertising.—[The Churchman.

GEORGIAN RECONCILIATION. The Greeley papers at the North have made a pretence of doubting the intimidation which was employed at the Georgia election, to keep the negroes from voting. At the South their organs make no endeavor to conceal the shameful facts, but regard the matter as an excellent jest. Here is the way the Macon Telegraph Messenger, a Democratic Greeley paper makes merry over the slaughter of negroes at the polls in that city

"The postal police used their weapons freely, and between fifty and a hundred shots were fired. 'It was a lively skirmish,' lasting about three minutes. No shots were fired by the whites, except those that were on duty as special police. These were sufficient, however, to rout the negroes, and send them scampering in every direction. They stood not upon the order of their going but went at once, pell mell, hurry skurry, all madly bent upon getting out of the way, leaving their dead and wounded upon the field."

Mr Smalley, in writing from London to the Tribune, says "Sir Alexander Cockburn's naïve confession that he considers himself as sitting on the tribunal as in some sense the representative of Great Britain, annoys the English. They wanted a judicial vindication, and lo! their judge comes down from the bench and mingles with the counsel at the bar."

Mr Greeley announces his willingness to take the stump again, if it is considered advisable. This is certainly very kind of him but we really do not think that we ought to ask it of him. It is not necessary, and after the great services that he has rendered in his western trip especially at Pittsburg, the most exacting Republican must admit that the sage has done his full share towards the election of the man who, he declared, never had been beaten, and never would be. And besides, to be perfectly frank, we are afraid that, after the election, Mr Greeley will demand an office, on the ground that he has done more than anybody else for Grant.

THE SOLDIERS, THE BUSINESS MEN AND THE WORKING MEN. These three classes, says an observer who has lately travelled extensively through the country, are against Mr Greeley. With such a force to overcome, the candidate of Chappaqua has, it must be confessed, rather a lonesome look. The elections, thus far, certainly indicate the correctness of the estimate.

The increase of the debt of New York city for eight months is $4,314,752. The Comptroller says the increase was caused by the issue of special bonds to to raise money for schools, building docks, etc.

Consumption can be Cured.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Sometimes medicines that will stop a cough will often occasion the death of the patient. It locks up the liver stops the circulation of the blood hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, clogging the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaint and dyspepsia are the causes of two thirds of the cases of consumption. Many are now complaining with dull pain in the side, the bowels sometimes costive and sometimes too loose, tongue coated, pain in the shoulder blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and at other times drowsy, the food that is taken lies heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly stopped, the lungs, liver and stomach clog, and remain torpid and inactive, and before the patient is aware of his situation, the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, and death is the inevitable result.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Seaweed tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juice of the stomach, digests easily, nourishes the system, and creates a healthy circulation of the blood. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, and the patient is of a bilious habit, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. J. H SCHENCK & SON, Northeast corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, Penn., and for sale by GEO C GOODWIN & CO, Hanover street, Boston, & JOHN F. HENRY, 8 College place, New York, Wholesale Agents.

For sale by Druggists generally.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FROM NEW YORK.

PROBABLE MURDER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. Last night William Edwards, driver of an avenue C horse-car was arrested for striking over the head and breaking the skull of Horace Brown, a colored man, who attempted to prevent Edwards from driving through the line of the Odd Fellows procession. There is much excitement among the negroes and the talk of Lynching. Edwards, who drove off rapidly and was arrested at the company's stables. Brown is reported dying.

THE RING CASES.

Judge Brady, of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, has denied a motion to postpone the trial of Tom Fields. Fields' counsel acknowledged that he had left the State.

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE

met in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce to-day and were welcomed in a speech by President Dodge. The business meeting of the Board will be held in City Hall.

Hon. Fred'k Trayles of St. Louis was elected permanent chairman. The chairman then informed the board that a delegation from the Dominion Board of Trade was present by its invitation. On motion of Mr. Hazzard of Buffalo, the delegation, consisting of William McGiven of Hamilton, and J. Young, [illegible] Moran, J. H. Grant, and Wm. Patterson of Montreal, were admitted to seats.

Mr. Young in returning thanks, spoke of the disadvantage to both countries of the want of reciprocity.

Credentials were presented by delegates from Baltimore, Chicago, Portland, Troy, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Newark, N. J., Galveston, Texas, New Haven, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Wilmington, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Louisville, Buffalo, Providence, Boston, San Francisco and New York.

A Committee on Credentials was appointed and also a committee of eight to consult [illegible] the representation of Canada on the subject of reciprocity of trade between the two countries, and the meeting soon after adjourned till Wednesday morning.

[illegible] AT THE BROOKLYN HOSPITAL.

Doctor Mommonierre, resident physician of the Brooklyn Homoeopathic Hospital, [illegible] discharged by the lady managers on [illegible] that he is a Roman Catholic. Six [illegible] physicians attached to the institution [illegible] in consequence resigned, and Henry Ward Beecher has uttered an indignant protest against the act of the managers.

THE BIENVILLE INVESTIGATION.

The investigation of the Bienville disaster was resumed to-day. Stevedore Cummings [illegible] storing freight, by which it appears that arms and ammunition were stored [illegible] connection with anything inflammable [illegible].

CRIMINAL MATTERS.

The report that Lottie Stanton, who was struck on the head with a piano stool by Joseph Dempsey, a few nights ago, is dead, is incorrect. There is now a prospect of her recovery. Dempsey remains in prison.

George Rogers, indicted for the murder of [illegible] Donahue in Brooklyn, will be tried on Monday.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The Times publishes documents proving [illegible] of the Tribune's charges against Attorney General Barlow and others.

The increase of the debt of the city of Brooklyn for the year ending December, [illegible], was $[illegible]6,581.

James Reilly, charged with the murder of James Dorian, at the Scottish celebration in September, was to-day acquitted.

[illegible]man's jewelry store in Prince street was damaged to the amount of $7000 by fire this morning.

The propeller China, reported yesterday as burned off Kingston, was not the iron steamer China, but a wooden steamer of Canadian [illegible].

The report that Schuyler Colfax is to be the editor of the New York Tribune, or to be in any way connected therewith, is authoritatively denied.

POLITICAL.

[illegible] DEMOCRATS WILL NOT CONTEST THE NORTH CAROLINA ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. A Raleigh despatch says the Democratic Committee and some of the principal parties in the defeated interest [illegible] after consultation decided to defer for the present, the giving notice of intention to contest the State election before the Legislature.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

The nominations of Tammany last night are considered a triumph of the reform wing.

The Reform association has issued an address favoring the election of Wm. F. Havemeyer, for Mayor.

POLITICAL DEMONSTRATIONS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 15. Four hundred Tanners with uniforms, torches and two bands of music, went to Concord this evening to attend a grand Republican jollification.

The Greeley Club of this city, are to have a torch light procession on Friday evening next. The Greeley Clubs of Nashua and Lowell are invited.

ARIZONA.

INDIAN OUTRAGES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15. Advices from Tucson, Arizona, Oct. 8th, says that Sept. 30, the Apaches attacked Hughes' Ranche near Crittenden, killed a Mexican and stole the animals. Lieut. Hall of the 5th Cavalry went to the ranche where Mrs. Gabara and her children were besieged, and found the Indians one hundred strong and armed with breech loading guns. They retired to the mountains and defied the troops. A sergeant with five men were despatched to warn the farmers in Sonata Valley of the danger. Near Hughes' Ranche the Indians killed sergeant George Stewart, corporal William Nation, privates Edw'd Carr and John Walsh.

An order had been received by the agent from Gen'l Howard not to fire at the Indians in the mountains unless engaged in actual outrages. The same order was sent to all the posts south of Gila river, the same day of the murder of the soldiers. Gen'l Howard was at this time in Dragoon mountains with the noted Cochise, trying to induce him to go on a reservation.

On the sixth of October, a large band of Apaches from Santa Rita mountains, with a herd of stolen cattle, attacked a party of miners thirty miles from Tuscon and robbed them of all their animals. Two men are missing. The Indians were armed with the best guns and fixed ammunition.

ARKANSAS.

TROUBLE IN ATCHINSON COUNTY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. A Memphis special advices from Osceola, Arkansas, to [illegible] 15th, state that the citizens were still under arms, and greatly excited under the reports that the negroes were marching on the place. Scores of prisoners have been captured and the Jail is crowded.

MASSACHUSETTS.

THE DORCHESTER MURDER.

BOSTON, Oct. 15. The inquest on the body of Charles Lane, murdered at Dorchester, commenced this morning. Little additional information has yet been obtained and there is little to sustain any theories as to the motive of the crime or its perpetrator.

STABBING AFFRAY.

A young rough named William Green dangerously stabbed James D. Hohen, (colored) during a bar-room quarrel in Gouch street this morning. He was held in $15,000 bail for examination.

SCHOONER DISABLED.

The schooner Superior, Capt. McDougall, from Boston for Martinique, sprung aleak off Cape Cod on the night of the 14th inst., and was taken in tow by the steam-tug Wm. Hennesy, and headed for Provincetown harbor, but the leak increasing, the tug was obliged to leave her, and the schooner was beached at the head of the "Palms," three miles south of Highland light.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

GRAND REPUBLICAN DEMONSTRATION.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 15. A Republican Mass Meeting was held here this afternoon in Phoenix Hall. Owing to the cold weather it was adjourned from the State House Yard, where it was originally intended to have it. Hon. Henry Wilson spoke for about an hour and was followed by Gov. Jewell of Connecticut. The hall was filled and the speeches entusiastically received. This evening a is in progress and the parade is one of the finest ever seen in this city. There are about 1500 torches and seven bands of music. Tanners Clubs and Boys in Blue from Fisherville, Franklin, Laconia, Hooksett, Manchester, and Nashua are present and participate in the parade. The houses along the route of march are illuminated and present a brilliant spectacle. A collation will be had in one of the halls, after which the several delegations will return to their homes by special trains.

CLAIMS FOR STORES AND SUPPLIES.

Secretary Boutwell has addressed the following letter to the Third Auditor at the Treasury:—

SIR:—You are requested to suspend action upon claims for stores and supplies furnished ostensibly for the use of the army, in all cases where the required returns have not been made by the receipting officers. This course is made necessary by the fact that the ex-officers of the army have in some instances given their official certificate and receipts for forage and other supplies, dating them years before the time when they were actually made in order to bring them within the scope of their official authority, thus leaving an open door for collusion and fraud in the absence of so important a guard at the official returns. I am, Sir, &c.,

GEORGE S. BOUTWELL.

The race [illegible] best three in five to harness, mile heats, [illegible] by [illegible] rules. [illegible] $100 to [illegible].

PROFITABLE FARMING. Samuel Campbell, Esq., of Levant wintered the past winter a flock of 16 sheep and from them he raised 20 lambs, which he sold a few days ago for the sum of $90, and the wool from the 16 sheep netted him $56,50, making a total of $146,50. This we should call a pretty good business.

ACCIDENT. Mr. Dennis Tracy met with an accident yesterday while practicing in his shell boat. He got into the swift current near a vessel and as he had a new set of oars which he was trying, he by some means lost control of his boat and struck the vessel. The shell was injured almost past repairs, and the owner got a cold bath. This is unfortunate for Mr. Tracy as he will be obliged to get another boat for the race on Thursday.

PRESENTATION. It being understood that Mr. Thomas Morton foreman of the Kimball & Sanford saw works, is to enter into a life contract with a new firm on Monday next and as for many years he has been connected with his present employers; his employers and fellow workmen presented him with an elegant satin finished silver service yesterday. The set comprises eight pieces, a coffee pot, tea pot, water pot, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, spoon holder, slop bowl, and ice pitcher.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS MEETINGS. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern Bank was held at the banking rooms yesterday, and the following named gentlemen were elected Directors for the ensuing year:—A. M. Roberts, Edward Kent, Joseph Chase, Thomas H. Rich, and N. G. Higgins. A. M. Roberts was subsequently elected President and Edwin Clark Cashier.

The Stockholders of the Veazie Bank also held their annual meeting yesterday, and elected Messrs. Alfred Veazie, Eben Blunt, Charles V. Lord, Frank N. Lord, and George Varney Directors for the ensuing year. Alfred Veazie was chosen President and Wm. C. Holt Cashier.

FIRE IN HAMPDEN. About four o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Levi Emerson of Hampden was harnessing his horses in his barn, intending to come to this city with a load of straw. While making his preparations a colt which had been shut up to prevent its following, broke out of the enclosure and running up struck against a kerosene light by which Mr. Emerson was harnessing his horses. The lantern was overturned, the flame seized upon the dry straw and the barn was speedily in flames. The fire spread so rapidly that the house, connected with the stable was in flames and there was nothing saved but the furniture. Our informant states that the buildings were valued at about $2,000 and were insured for $1200

SAFE OPENED. The large Marvin safe which stood in the store of Michael Schwartz previous to the fire which destroyed the block and which contained his books and other papers was opened between eleven and twelve o'clock yesterday. The outside door had been warped by the extreme heat to such a degree that the lock could not be operated and a hole was cut through to gain access to the interior. The door to the chest inside had to be wrenched open, the lock however was not affected enough to prevent the bolts being thrown back as soon as the combination was arranged. The books had suffered no damage beyond the burning off of the backs, and a few of the papers were browned by the heat. Notwithstanding the severe heat to which the safe and its contents were subjected, the books and papers are all legible.

FIRE ON FIFTH STREET. About four o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in the ell of a story-and-a-half house on Torrey lane, off Fifth Street, nearly a mile from the centre of the city, and it was of course some time before a general alarm could be given. When the engines arrived at the reservoir at the corner of Fifth and Cedar streets the fire had made such headway that it was impossible to save the buildings, and the steamer was used to wet down the ruins and the neighboring houses. The buildings, a house, ell and stable, were owned by Mr. R. S. Torrey, and valued at about $700. They were unoccupied, but Mr. Torrey had his furniture stored in the house and destroyed with it. The fire was either the work of an incendiary or, as some suppose, originated from sparks dropped from the pipe of one of the workmen employed in shingling the house the day before. The property was insured for $600 in the Penobscot Mutual of this city.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT AT BREWER. The monument erected by the citizens of Brewer to the memory of the soldiers from that town who lost their lives during the war of the rebellion, has been completed at a cost of about $1600, and erected in the cemetery on a fine lot 60 by 120 feet in size, presented for the purpose by Geo. A. Snow, Esq. The monument is of white marble, bearing finely chiselled battle emblems, and the names of the soldiers it is designated to commemorate. It will be dedicated this Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and it is expected that B. H. Beal Post, No. 12, G. A. R., the Jameson Guards and the Bangor Cadets will participate in the ceremonies. Following is the order of exercises:—Singing by a select choir: Prayer by Rev. J. W. H. Cromwell; Singing by choir; Unveiling of the monument; Addresses by Hon. Lewis Barker, Rev. B. F. Tefft, D. D., and Rev. J. W. H. Baker; Music by the Bangor Cornet Band.

THE HOME FOR AGED WOMEN—Mr. Editor:—There is considerable being said just now in regard to the establishment of an "Old Ladies Home" in this city, and as it is proposed to solicit a subscription for its endowment, it seems quite desirable for the public to be more fully informed in regard to the wants of such an Institution here. Your correspondent would therefore enquire for some particulars as to the management; of its general arrangement; what has been the success of similar institutions in other cities; how they are managed and are acceptable to those for whom they are designed; and have places of this size found them demanded and sustained by actual experiment? The people of Bangor have never yet been wanting in any good work of a benevolent character; an instance alone will afford striking proof in the admirably arranged and managed Children's Home. Doubtless they will show no less regard for the aged than the young if they can see the necessity for it. Will some of the friends of this new measure give us the desired information?

A PLEASANT AFFAIR. Several of the representatives of the Swett family made a surprise call upon Dr. B. R. Buker and lady, at their residence in Hampden, last evening, and presented them with an elegant silver ice-pitcher and salver, as a momento of the recent family reunion, and in token of gratitude to the Doctor and his lady for their kindness in opening their houses and grounds upon that occasion, and for their untiring exertions to make the gathering pass off pleasantly to all concerned. The inscription on the pitcher is as follows: "Presented to Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Buker, by the Swett Family." On the reverse was: "Reunion, October 9th, 1872," enclosed in a wreath formed of a chain of thirteen links in which were thirteen letters forming the words "Chain Unbroken." The device was very neat and in excellent taste. After the presentation, which took the Doctor and lady completely by surprise, the company were finely entertained by them, and the evening passed off in the pleasantest manner to all concerned.

[illegible] POLICE COURT.

stealing goods removed from the burning buildings at the fire on Friday night was arraigned on the charge and the following facts elicited from the testimony of the witnesses:

Policeman S. F. Quimby testified that he saw the woman going down Broad street on the night of the fire, and being suspicious that there was something wrong followed her. When in front of her house he stopped her before she entered and took from her a box of raisins and other things pilfered from the goods removed from the stores, she, asserting that they had been given her by some man in the crowd. Entering the house the officer found in her bed several bottles of cough balsam and other medicines such as had been removed from the drug store while the fire was raging.

Officer Weymouth on searching the next day found a box of raisins and some patent medicines in a woodshed which the testimony of others showed to be used and occupied by the respondent.

Edward E. Lyon a clerk of Geo. W. Ladd & Co. identified the cost mark on the raisin boxes as that used in the store from which these goods were removed.

Alfred G. Curtis, a clerk in Mann's drug store, testified that such goods as were found in the respondent's possession were removed from their store on the night of the fire, but he could not identify them by the cost mark.

Officer Pratt testified to seeing the woman around the goods which had been taken from the buildings while the fire was in progress.

In view of the testimony and other facts brought to bear on the case, she was ordered by Judge Clark to recognize in the sum of $300 for her appearance at the February term of the S. J. Court.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

OCTOBER TERM.

HON. EDWARD KENT, Presiding.
EZRA C. BRETT, Esq., Clerk.

Tuesday, Oct. 15. In the case Chas. Woodman & al. vs. John W. Veazie, reported yesterday, the Jury returned a verdict for pl'ffs, for $218.44. Motion to set aside verdict as excessive.

Peters & Wilson. A. W. Paine.

Charles Woodman & al. vs. John W. Veazie.

Action to recover damages done to plaintiffs' raft of lumber by being broken up on the dam at Veazie, in June, 1870. Amount claimed, $182.

The deft. was bound to keep a sluice at the Corporation mills in good repair for running rafts through. The sluice was out of repair. Plaintiffs' complained to deft., and requested him to repair it so they could run their rafts through, because the water in the river had got so low as to make it dangerous to run over the dam. Deft. thought it still safe, and told plaintiffs that if they would run their raft over the dam he would pay all damage they sustained by so doing. They did so and the raft was broken up, and they brought this suit on the promise.

The defendant took the ground that this talk did not amount to a contract and could not be enforced in law. The Jury gave a verdict for the plaintiffs for $96.

Peters & Wilson. Paine.

Addie D. Gray vs. Wm. A. Gray.

Writ of habeas corpus bro't by the mother to recover possession of her infant child, which was withheld from her by defendant, the father. On hearing before Appleton, C. J., in Chambers, the custody of the child was given to the mother with the right to father to see it at all seasonable times, till further order of Court.

Brown & Simpson. Hutchings.

ON TRIAL.

Arthur B. Sutton vs. Moses Buck and Jas. B. Leslie.

An action to recover money and advances, and involving heavy transactions in lumbering operations in 1861-2.

Peters & Wilson, McCrillis.

The Society is yet in its infancy, this being, as we have stated, only its fourth exhibition, and we learn from the Secretary, Mr. E. P. Nealley, that arrangements will be made before the next fair to have good and suitable buildings erected for the accommodation of exhibitors. The track is pronounced one of the best half-mile tracks in the State.

REV. J. F. Kennedy, financial agent of Ohio Western University, committed suicide in the cellar of his house at Delaware, Ohio, on Monday, by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. He was recently Presiding Elder of the North Ohio Conference, and also a member of the committee charged with the [illegible] New York [illegible] of two [illegible].

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Bismarck is better.

Hazelton, Pa., had a snow-storm Monday.

Mary Nealley was killed in Philadelphia on Monday by her drunken husband.

Fresh troubles are reported to have broken out in Pope county, Arkansas, just as the settlement of the recent difficulties was looked for.

Mary Ella Lunis, 3 years of age, was killed by her brother Patrick, 5 years of age, an idiot, in Boston, Monday, by striking her on the head with his fist, crushing in her skull.

In the case of Emanuel Shuffener, on his second trial at Harrisburg, Pa., for the murder of his two wives and John Sharlock by poisoning, the prisoner pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to the penitentiary for 30 years.

An East-bound passenger train on the Central Pacific Railroad ran off the track near Truckee, Monday night, and wrecked the baggage and mail car. The conductor, D. S. Marshall, the mail agent and an unknown man were instantly killed, the chief brakeman had a leg smashed and another is reported missing. None of the passengers are reported injured.

A CASE OF CONSCIENCE

At last I had a home, and [illegible] castle, one little spot with four walls, and a fence around it that I could call my own. I must have had a father and mother in the nature of things but they died before my remembrance and bequeathed me to an aunt.

She had been good to me in the beginning, and I had been good to her in the end; my sickly childhood was balanced by her helpless old age.

After ten years of cheerful suffering my aunt folded up her worn skirt. She had longed for the change, and I wore no mourning for her.

I found myself free at twenty-seven to carve out a future for myself a sort of carving which heretofore had always been done by somebody else. After the funeral to take the edge off my first loneliness, I went to visit the cousin who had shared my aunt's kindness with me till her marriage.

Her home was open to me, and a single woman might have found a mission ready made there, but I was of Mr Jelly's opinion—I wanted no mission.

As I lay in the narrow bed which I had always used in my aunt's room that I might be constantly ready at her call, I hugged to myself the sense of loneliness that prevailed in the house. I could lie there all day if I liked, [illegible] the habit of breakfast did force me on my feet after a while, it should be precisely according to my own sweet will whether the eggs boiled three minutes or four. It would have suited my mood just then to meet some wonderful delicacy like peacocks' brains or nightingales' tongues, and [illegible] little table rise suddenly up from the [illegible] accordingly, as tables had a [illegible] of doing in the reign of Madame Pompadour.

My only remembrance of her, however, lay in a [illegible] necked gown a fashion which she is said to have introduced—perhaps because her neck was fair and graceful. [illegible] too, have [illegible] throat and it was another sign of my freedom that I could tear out the high lining with which my aunt had insisted on filling up this [illegible] neck lest I should take cold, and baste in a little frill of fleecy lace.

I went out after breakfast to see how the little garden fared in my long neglect. A heavy shower had fallen in the night, and all [illegible] were held up wet and shining faces. I was thinking that I would clear away all the [illegible] old-fashioned borders straight and stiff and have beds of such fanciful and graceful shape that even in winter they would be a thing of beauty, when I was startled by a [illegible] shadow on the gravel walk falling over the garden gate which was hidden from me by the hedges.

The shadow was very free and easy and stretched its elbows to lean on the gate. The [illegible] of the wide awake [illegible] betrayed Dr Frye.

"Why don't you come in like a Christian and not hang on the gate as if you had [illegible] on the house?" I asked without moving from where I stood.

"Because the house has changed owners since I was here last and I am not quite sure I am welcome."

I went to him then and we shook hands over the gate. The doctor gave me a long look, then speaking in another second it would have been a stare.

"I feel sure that you are Lois Deane and not another?"

"Certainly. I haven't a doubt of it."

"If you are really Lois, it seems to me that I see you now for the first time."

"You have seen me nearly every day for ten years."

"Yes in a gray stuff gown with your hair [illegible] up in a hard knot and the [illegible] in the room tortured down to the same color as your [illegible]. I used to think it needed only the white band and kerchief to make you a Sister of Charity."

"It [illegible] spirit."

"I thought you really enjoyed your work [illegible] always cheerful."

"I was only paying my debts."

"Then I desire to be your creditor to an [illegible] amount."

"I owe you something, doctor. There were times when your visit of a few minutes each day was all that kept me from turning into a grist making machine."

"You would never have been that, if you had kept through your long bondage the [illegible] that blossoms out all over you now in the white gown and the lace [illegible] your throat. Let us shake hands again."

We did so cordially, and the coming inside the gate we went up on the piazza.

"I [illegible] on that gate a minute or two every day since you went away, and heavy [illegible] always till this morning."

"The neighbors will conclude that you want to buy the house, but you can't have it at any price."

"Whoever takes this house will take me with it. I am one of the fixtures."

"To me that would not be an insurmountable objection," said the doctor, with an amused smile.

I realized all at once what I had said and hastened to make a bad matter worse by blushing painfully.

"You know I did not mean that."

"Did I mean what?"

"Ever to sell this house, I said, recovering myself."

"Do you mean to live alone?"

"Yes and get acquainted with myself."

"I assure you, you will find yourself very pleasant person to know."

"Thank you."

"But won't you be lonely?"

"I hope so. It will be a new sensation. I have always eaten and drank and slept, and lived according to other people's ideas. Now I am going to live unto myself like the [illegible] in Tennyson's Palace of Art."

"And let the world have peace or wars."

"I should like it. It will go against the [illegible] worse than the other way after a [illegible]."

"It may be so but at least I'll try it. Still [illegible] My identity has always been so crowded that I've never had a fair look at it. Now I will know what it is like, and find out what I really want to make me happy."

"I know without studying upon it at all—I want to have some one to love you, and work for you, as you have worked for another. Your mind has been stretched so long [illegible] one direction that it aches for the rebound."

I had not thought of that, but my own idea is, to take a course of moral lotus-eating. I mean to live here and worship pure comfort shutting up duty and charity, and all other skeletons in a dark closet. No orphan child in need of me hanging on my gate."

"That means me, I suppose," interjected Dr Frye.

"And no over-worked mothers of families need make ready an altar for me to sacrifice myself upon while they take the credit. I am going to be as idle and vain, and frivolous as a woman can. You need not be surprised to see me driving a pair of ponies with one hand and carrying a pink parasol in the other."

"Only let me sit beside you, and hold the lap-dog, that you may not be run away with and killed before you have seen the folly of it."

"Would you care if I were?"

"Lois, Lois, you are actually getting [illegible]," said the doctor, laughing heartily, "nothing will surprise me now."

I told you the change was to be radical.

He went slowly down the steps after this, and then came briskly up again. "I have your word that you owe me something?" he asked.

"Yes."

"When are you going to pay it?"

"'Tis the creditor who settles that point."

"Then promise me that when the sense of being alone in the world, which you find so delicious now, becomes the gain and weariness to you that it is to other people, you will let me know it."

"What good would it do you?"

"That is my affair, will you promise?"

"Yes, I promise, but it will be a long day before your debt is paid."

"I am used to waiting, the longest day [illegible] comes to an end at last."

He stood before me with an uncertain wistful sort of look on his face. I cast about in my mind in vain for something to say to break a fearful pause [illegible] growing about us.

His eyes brightened; but he made a step toward me, at the same moment a boy ran into the yard and handed up a telegram—The mere sight of one of those portentous envelopes always makes my heart jump. I wish people would use the telegraph oftener or not at all. I turned it over half a dozen times before taking the plunge of opening it.

Maria cannot live many hours. She asks constantly for you. Come next train.

FRANCIS STORY.

This was the cousin whom I had spent my childhood with, and I had left her only a few days before, in good hope, if not in health.

I handed the telegram to Dr. Frye.

"Will you go?" he asked doubtfully.

"Of course. I must go."

"The next train is due in twenty minutes, there is another in two hours."

"Never mind the other, I will take this—Would you be so good as to rush all over the house and shut the blinds, and fasten the windows, and behave altogether as if you had bought the house?"

"With the fixtures," he called after me as I rushed up stairs for a travelling bag.

With Dr Frye's help I reached the train, and said the last words to him from the open window.

"Thank you very much, I don't know how I could have managed without you."

"Then there are crises in life when it is handy to have a man in the house?"

"I suppose so." And then the train moved off and I had only his pleasant smile and warm hand shake to cheer me on my journey. I had but twenty miles to ride, but that was time enough to wonder over and over whether Dr Frye loved me or not. I pulled my imaginary daisy to pieces many times over this puzzle, and came no nearer to a conclusion.

When Maria's husband took me to the room I had never seen her look so well; her eyes shone like stars, and a red flush burnt in her cheek.

"I knew you would come. I have waited for you," she said eagerly. "Now go away, Frank; don't mind if I have to say something that you must not hear."

Frank whispered as he passed me, "Don't oppose her in anything."

"What is all this about?" I said almost with impatience. I heard the new baby cry lustily as I came in. "That misery being over, you have nothing to do but get well as soon as may be."

"You remind me of Mrs. Chick," said Maria smiling faintly. "I would gladly make an effort, if only to please you and Frank."

"And don't you care for the baby that you love so well before it was born?"

"O yes, but I have suffered so much! I long only for rest. You are better fitted for a mother than I am."

I saw her drift now, and groaned involuntarily. Maria, Maria, think of the fetters I have worn for ten years. I seem to see the marks left on my flesh. I have had no youth, no juice at all in my life, and now you have another set ready for me to wear. I cannot, cannot, and I buried my face in the bed clothes.

The stillness that followed startled me—Maria had fallen back on her pillow, white and motionless. I had not believed until this moment that death was indeed waiting for her. She recovered in a few minutes, and spoke again in a weaker voice. "Forgive me for being selfish, a mother in her last hour can think only of her children. You will take care of them, Lois?"

She held by my hands, and drew herself up till her face nearly touched mine. She was dying and could not see her own injustice. I was torn with an inward fight. All the brightness which seemed just opening before me that very morning faded out, and I saw a desert stretch of hard labor, uncongenial and thankless.

"I know nothing about children, Maria. I never held a baby in my arms in my life."

"I know all that, but I can trust you, your conscience would make you do our best—Only promise and let me die in peace."

Her face was drawn into an agony of entreaty, the yearning mother love unstrained me. I could hold out no longer.

"You may die in peace, Maria, I promise to care for your children—until—" It was impossible to utter just then the words that rose to my lips.

"Until they are grown up, you mean?"

"No, I did not mean that."

"Until Frank marries again?"

I turned hot and cold, but she was unmoved. "Yes."

"Ah, Lois, you have yourself opened the door for me to say just one word. You will live here with Frank, and be a mother to his children, and if, after a time, he should grow to love you——"

"This is too much," I interrupted, "you have bequeathed me your children, you need not throw in your husband also. I used to think you loved him."

"Of course I love him, he is the father of my children."

"Always the children! I suppose you will say next that Frank is no blood relation. We are cousins, but we cannot [illegible] of the same clay. If I ever marry my husband shall be bone of my bone, and have all my heart, the children may come in where they can, and as for any woman marrying him after I am dead she will do it at her peril."

"You may love Frank in that way, and I will not haunt you," said Maria, with a faint smile. "You have made me very happy."— Frank came in and I slipped away to the nursery. It was time that I should face my work.

"Dis is my baby," said little Maud, sitting by the cradle like a miniature nurse.

I lifted the lace and looked in at the little lump of red clay that was to begin its career under my tender mercies. At the same instant the sharp wail of a very young infant sounded in the room, and yet the sleeping baby before me had not moved a hair.

"This is the other one," said the nurse, holding out the duplicate of the first for me to take.

"Not twins?" I gasped.

"To be sure it's twins, a fine pair of boys as ever you saw in your life, but it will be a power of work to bring 'em up. The first year with twins is just awful."

"It is the first blow that kills," I muttered, feeling as if I would gladly have changed places with Maria.

"What did you say, ma'am?"

"Nothing. You may give me the child, I am to take the brunt of that first year, and you must teach me all you know."

"So I will, but you must keep his head higher than his feet to begin with."

The baby screamed and wriggled as if he already felt it in his bones that his mother was about to leave him with but half a birthright. I got up to walk about with him.

"Don't do that," said nurse, "you must begin as you can hold out. We are born critters of habit, and if you walk with him the first week, you might as well be a horse in a treadmill before the year is out."

"But what shall I do?"

"Lay him over your knees and pat his back, or hold him to your breast and kind of sway him back and forth, or toss him up and down a little. There's a thousand ways to please em."

While nurse went down for her dinner I am morally certain that I tried every one of those thousand ways, everything by turns and nothing long.

"You work a great deal harder than you need to," was her comforting comment. "Babies don't cry because they are in pain, half the time it's for the pleasure of hearing their own voices just as some folks talk."

This was a ray of comfort, if I could only have believed it, but I suspected that nurse had become case hardened in her business.

When Frank came in and carried away Maud I had no reason to ask the question—Maria had only held on to life till she could reach her.

Our intimacy had always been of a prickly sort, but we had trusted each other to the last and I had none but tender thoughts of her.

In the painful days that followed, I became a most willing and awkward assistant to Nurse Brown, and never worked so hard in my life.

If one only knew when the day's work was done! I groaned to her one night when the twins were both asleep, and we knew not whether we should have five minutes or fifteen in which to call our souls our own.

"That's just it. Babies are like ghosts, you never know when they're laid. Nobody'd ever bring 'em up for money, so the Lord had to send love with 'em."

It was the first bright thread in the pattern of my life at that time, when Dr. Frye drove over from Clinton.

"You have put on the old gray mask again," were his first words, "even in those few days of hard work. Come, get your things together, and drive home with me. The old house looks lonely, and you must begin the 'living unto yourself,' that it may be over the sooner."

"My fate has been too strong for me," I said. "My cousin left me the most valuable property she possessed, and I shall need to give all my time to it."

"O dear!" said the doctor, "you were too rich before. Is the property in real estate?"

"No; it is a pair of twin boys, a week old."

Dr Frye's feelings were beyond speech, he went to the window and whistled a tune to the very end. Then a bright idea struck him.

"But you need not accept the legacy, you know."

"Yes, I must, I promised to take care of them until their father marries again."

"Or until your own marriage."

"That was not in the bond."

"Of course it was understood. Ah, Lois, you had better take me! The frying pan is an improvement on the fire."

"I know it," I said, laughing at his unconscious pun, and sore tempted to run into the arms held out to me.

[To be Concluded.]

The Arlington
Chilson's New Portable Range.

THIS RANGE has been got up expressly to meet the increasing demand for a BETTER CLASS OF GOODS THAN HAS EVER BEFORE BEEN OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC. All want the best work for the least money and in this everything will be found that can be desired in a Portable Range. This Range, as represented in the cut, shows the FINEST and most BEAUTIFUL DESIGN ever made in Stove Castings. Only the FINEST QUALITY of Stock, and the most THOROUGH WORKMANSHIP are admitted in this class of work.

The following are some of the useful improvements of this Range:

1st. It has six Boiling Holes.
2d. It has Collars to receive the smoke-pipe on either the top or back.
3d. It has a nice arrangement for the admission of cold air for perfectly regulating the draft, and keeping a continuous fire when desired.
4th. Its flues are so arranged that no heat can escape directly to the chimney without doing its work consequently there is no unnecessary waste of fuel.
5th. The flues are so constructed that every part of the oven is quickly and evenly heated.
6th. It has CHILSON'S patent Water Front Fixtures, for heating water in bath boilers, etc., when desired. These are the most perfect for the purpose ever invented.
7th. It is vaulted or double plated around the ovens thus preventing the cold air from coming in contact with the outside oven plates. This is an important improvement, causing the ovens to bake perfectly with a small fire.
8th. It has an admirable Sifting Grate and Ash Pan, so made that no ashes nor dust escape into the room while sifting the ashes.
9th. It has a most convenient plan for cleaning the flues of ashes etc.
10th. It is made with and without HOT CLOSETS and RESERVOIRS.
11th. It is very compact and makes a splendid appearance in the kitchen, projecting into the room much less than an ordinary cooking stove.
12th. Special care has been taken to protect the Range from cracking.
13th. All kinds of coal, coke or wood may be used as fuel.
14th. All oven doors are tin lined.

EVERY RANGE WARRANTED.

WALKER'S
IMPROVED
PORTABLE RANGE.

THE NEW RANGE excels anything of the kind ever offered for sale. It requires much less space than ordinary cooking stoves, and is more economical. It will heat as much water as a range set in masonry.

The POT CLOSET retains the heat usually radiated from the bottom which is, during the summer months WORSE THAN WASTED, thereby not only SAVING FUEL, but making the KITCHEN MORE COMFORTABLE, besides furnishing an admirable place for warming and keeping food warm, warming plates &c. The door can be removed during cold weather to allow the heat to escape into the kitchen.

Coals are separated from the ashes in the SIFTING CHAMBER.

THE FOLDING SHELF, together with other improvements referred to, make it all we claim for it, viz: THE MOST DESIRABLE COOKING APPARATUS TO BE FOUND ANYWHERE.

Beware of Counterfeits
And Imitations.

The high reputation gained by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, and Consumption has given rise to spurious compounds which are palmed off through the country called the same. The genuine Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is prepared only by F W Kinsman, the inventor and sole proprietor. To protect yourselves from imposition examine the bottle and see that the words F W Kinsman, Druggist, Augusta, Me are blown in the glass of the bottle.

Having examined the formula from which Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is prepared, we recommend it as a safe and reliable medicine for the cure of coughs colds, whooping cough, asthma, &c &c.

NORTH AUBURN, Maine, Aug 31, 1872

MR FRANK KINSMAN, Augusta, Me—Dear Sir: I have been troubled with lung disease for fifteen years. I was under Dr H Irish's treatment of Turner Village for ten years, he was the leading physician of the town. I have had five good physicians as there were in Auburn and Turner to try to cure me and other physicians have examined my lungs, one of them Dr Alonzo Garcelon of Lewiston gave me medical advice several times, he said I never could expect to recover, for there was a large cavity on the upper part of the left lung. I was confined to my bed for 13 years. I had tubercles on my lungs, and they were ulcerated very bad. I have had several bleeding spells and was brought so low that I could only be moved on a sheet for five months so have my bed made. My cough was always the worst in the morning. The doctors did their best to cure me and after trying five of the leading patent medicines I came to the conclusion that there was nothing on earth that would give me relief when I needed it the most, but now I find I have got to give up that idea, for Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has done it. I was so prostrated one morning after reading your advertisement and procuring a bottle of your Balsam of Wakefield Bros, at Lewiston, and taking some, that it did not make me sick, as other medicines had done. I found it very pleasant to take. I have used three bottles no bleeding now no ulcers no tubercles. I cannot find words to tell you how much better I am since taking your Balsam. I send this my unsolicited testimonial, for the benefit of the many thousands who are suffering from lung disease that they may be induced to try this wonder of healing Balsam. Hoping that God may bless you in the great work you are doing by relieving and curing the suffering. I am yours respectfully,

REBECCA W. COFFIN.

BOSTON, March 28 1872

Mr F W Kinsman, Augusta, Me.
Dear Sir: Having used your Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family with complete success, I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to a remedy of such excellent medical properties. The greatest success of all was the complete cure of a cough of five months duration. Two bottles of your valuable remedy effected a cure that four skillful physicians failed to do. I would not be without it and cheerfully recommend it to all.

Wishing you success in your wonderful work, I remain your respectfully,

JONATHAN OSBORN.

Mr F. W. KINSMAN—Dear Sir: We have had in all about 25 Gross Adamson's Balsam, and have retailed nearly 40 dozen of it over our retail counter. Parties have been in and bought it the second time and all pronounce it one of the best medicines in the market for cough and colds. Some of our men have used it and say it is the best remedy they have tried.

SEC 5 That the Postmaster General shall procure and cause to be kept a seal for his Department, which shall be affixed to all commissions of postmasters and others and used to authenticate all transcripts and copies which may be required from his Department.

SEC 6 That the Postmaster General shall establish and discontinue post-offices, instruct all persons in the postal service with reference to their duties, [illegible] on the forms of all official papers, prescribe the manner of keeping and stating accounts enforce the prompt rendition of returns relative to said accounts, control, according to law and subject to the settlement of the Auditor, all expenses incident to the service of the Department, superintend the disposition of the moneys of the Department, direct the manner in which balances shall be paid over, issue warrants to cover money into the treasury and to pay out the same, and generally superintend the business of the Department, and execute all laws relating to the postal service.

SEC 7 That in case of the death, resignation, or absence of the Postmaster General all his powers and duties shall devolve, for the time being, on the first Assistant Postmaster General.

SEC. 8 That the Postmaster General shall make the following reports to Congress at each annual session:

A report of all contracts for carrying the mail made within the preceding year, giving in each case the name of the contractor, the date and duration of the contract, the routes embraced therein, with the length of each, the time of arrival and departure at the ends of each route, the mode of transportation, and the price to be paid, together with a copy of the recorded abstracts of all proposals for carrying the mail, as provided by section two hundred and forty eight.

A report of all land and water mails established or ordered within the preceding year other than those let to contract at the annual letting giving in each case the route or water course on which the mail is established, the name of the person employed to transport it, the mode of transportation, the price to be paid, and the duration of the order or contract.

A report of all allowances made to contractors within the preceding year above the sums originally stipulated in their respective contracts, and the reasons for the same, and of all orders made whereby additional expense is incurred on any route beyond the original contract price, giving in each case the name of the contractor, the original service provided for by the contract, the original price, the additional service required, and the additional allowance therefor.

A report of all curtailments of expenses effected within the preceding year, giving in each case the same particulars as in the preceding report.

A report of the finances of the Department for the preceding year, showing the amount of balance due the Department at the beginning of the year, the amount of postage which accrued within the year, the amount of engagement and liabilities, and the amount actually paid during the year for carrying the mail, showing how much of said amount was for carrying the mail in the preceding year.

A report of the fines imposed on, and the deductions from the pay of, contractors, made during the preceding year stating the name of the contractor, the nature of the delinquency, the route on which it occurred, when the fine was imposed, and whether the fine or deduction has been remitted, and for what reason.

A copy of each contract for carrying the mail between the United States and foreign countries, with a statement of the amount of postage derived under the same, so far as the returns of the Department will enable it to be done.

A report showing all contracts which have been made by the Department, other than for carrying the mail, giving the name of the contractor, the article or thing contracted for, the place where the article was to be delivered, or the thing performed, the amount paid therefor, and the date and duration of the contract.

A report of the clerks and other persons employed in the Department during the year, or any part thereof, giving the names of the persons, the time they were actually employed, and the sums paid each, whether they have been usefully employed, whether the services of any can be dispensed with without detriment to the public service, and whether the removal of any, and the appointment of others in their stead, is required for the better dispatch of business.

A report on the postal business and agencies in foreign countries.

And the Postmaster General shall cause all of such reports to be printed at the Public Printing Office either together or separately, and in such numbers as may be required by the exigencies of the service or by law.

SEC 9 That the Postmaster General shall submit to Congress at each annual session a statement of the amount expended during the preceding fiscal year, and an estimate of the amount that will be required for the ensuing fiscal year, under each of the following heads: "Transportation of the mails," "compensation of postmasters," "compensation of clerks in post-offices," "compensation of letter carriers," "compensation of blank agents and assistants," "mail depredations and special agents," "postage-stamps and envelopes," "ship, steamboat, and way letters," "dead letters," "mail bags," "mail locks, keys, and stamps," "wrapping paper," "office furniture," "advertising," "balances to foreign countries," "rent, light, and fuel for post-offices," "stationery, and miscellaneous," showing the sums paid under each head, and the names of the persons to whom payments are made out of the miscellaneous fund, but the names of persons employed in detecting depredations on the mail, and other confidential agents, need not be disclosed.

SEC 10 That the Postmaster General shall lay before Congress during the first week in each annual session, detailed statements of the expenditures made from the contingent fund of his Department. He shall also make out and keep, in proper books, full and complete inventories and accounts of all the property belonging to the United States in the buildings, rooms, offices, and grounds occupied by him and under his charge and to add thereto from time to time an account of such property as may be procured subsequently to the taking of the same, and also an account of the sale or disposal of any such property, and to report the same to Congress as aforesaid: Provided, That this section shall not apply to the supplies of stationery and fuel which shall be accounted for as now provided by law.

Sec. 11 That all persons employed in any branch of the postal service shall be exempt from militia duty, and from serving on juries, or from any penalty for neglect thereof.

Sec 12 That no person employed in the Post-Office Department shall become interested in any contract for carrying the mail, or act as agent, with or without compensation, for any contractor or person offering to become a contractor in any business before the Department, and any person so offending shall be immediately dismissed from office; and shall be liable to pay so much money as would have been realized from said contract, to be recovered in an action of debt, for the use of the Post-Office Department.

Sec 13 That all bonds taken and contracts entered into by the Post-Office Department shall be made to and with the United States of America.

Sec. 14 That no person employed in the postal service shall receive any fees or perquisites on account of the duties to be performed by virtue of his appointment.

Sec. 15 That before entering upon the duties, and before they shall receive any salary, the Postmaster General and all persons employed in the postal service, shall respectively take and subscribe, before some magistrate or other competent officer, the following oath or affirmation: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will faithfully perform all the duties required of me, and abstain from everything forbidden by the laws in relation to the establishment of post-offices and post-roads within the United States, and that I will honestly and truly account for and pay over any money belonging to the said United States, which may come into my possession or control. So help me, God." And any such oath or affirmation may be taken before any officer, civil or military, holding a commission under the United States, and [illegible].

to such service, whether he has taken the oath or affirmation prescribed in the preceding section or not.

SEC 17 That telegrams between the several Departments of the government and their officers and agents in their transmission over the lines of any company to which has been given the right of way, timber or station lands from the public domain, shall have priority over all other business at such rates as the Postmaster General shall annually fix.

SEC 18 That every order, entry, or memorandum whatever, on which any action is to be based, allowance made, or money paid and every contract paper or obligation made by or with the Post Office Department, shall have its true date affixed to it, and every paper relating to contracts or allowances filed in the Department shall have the date when it was filed indorsed upon it.

SEC 19 That the Postmaster General shall furnish a copy of his annual estimates to the Secretary of the Treasury prior to the first of November in each year, which shall be reported to Congress by the latter in his regular printed estimates.

SEC 20 That the Postmaster General shall transmit a copy of each postal convention concluded with foreign governments to the Secretary of State, who shall furnish a copy of the same to the Congressional Printer, for publication, and the printed proof-sheets of all such conventions shall be revised at the Post-Office Department.

SEC. 21 That there shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, an Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department.

SEC. 22 That the said Auditor shall receive all accounts arising in the Post-Office Department, or relative thereto, with the vouchers necessary to a correct adjustment thereof, and shall audit and settle the same and certify the balances thereon to the Postmaster General. He shall keep and preserve all accounts and vouchers after settlement. He shall close the accounts of the Department quarterly, and transmit to the Secretary of the Treasury quarterly statements of its receipts and expenditures. He shall report to the Postmaster General, when required to do so, the manner and form of keeping and stating the accounts of the Department, and the official forms of papers to be used in connection with its receipts and expenditures. He shall report to the Postmaster General all delinquencies of postmasters in rendering their accounts and returns, or in paying over money or other funds and other receipts at their offices. He shall register, charge, and countersign all warrants upon the Treasury for receipts and payments issued by the Postmaster General, when warranted by law. And he shall perform such other duties in relation to the financial concerns of the department as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of the Treasury, and make to said Secretary, or to the Postmaster General such reports respecting the same as either of them may require.

SEC 23 That the said Auditor shall superintend the collection of all debts due the Department, and all penalties and forfeitures imposed for any violation of the postal laws, and take all such other measures as may be authorized by law to enforce the payment of such debts and the recovery of such penalties and forfeitures. He shall also superintend the collection of all penalties and forfeitures arising under other statutes, where such penalties and forfeitures are the consequence of unlawful acts affecting the revenues or property of the Post-Office Department.

SEC 24 That the said Auditor, or the Mayor of any city, any justice of the peace, or the judge of any court of record may administer oaths or affirmations in relation to the examination and settlement of the accounts committed to the charge of said Auditor; and if any person shall knowingly swear or affirm falsely to [illegible] any expenditure on account of, or claim in favor of or against, said Department, he shall, on conviction thereof, for every such offence, forfeit and pay not exceeding two thousand dollars, and be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding five years, according to the aggravation of the offense.

SEC 25 That if either the Postmaster General or the person whose accounts have been settled shall be dissatisfied with the settlement of said Auditor, he may, within twelve months, appeal to the First Comptroller of the Treasury, whose decision shall be final and conclusive.

SEC. 26 That the Secretary of the Treasury may appoint in the office of the Auditor for the Post Office Department one chief clerk, nine clerks of class four, forty four clerks of class three, sixty four clerks of class two, thirty seven clerks of class one, one messenger, one assistant messenger, and eleven laborers.

SEC 27 That the annual salaries of the Auditor for the Post Office Department, and the clerks, messengers, and laborers in his office shall be as follows:

Of the Auditor, three thousand dollars;

Of the chief clerk, two thousand dollars;

Of the clerks of class four one thousand eight hundred dollars each, and two hundred dollars additional to one of said clerks as disbursing clerk;

Of the clerks of class three, one thousand six hundred dollars each;

Of the clerks of class two, one thousand four hundred dollars each;

Of the clerks of class one, one thousand two hundred dollars each;

Of the messenger, eight hundred and forty dollars;

Of the assistant messenger, seven hundred dollars;

Of the laborers, six hundred dollars each.

SEC 28 That whenever the office of any postmaster shall become vacant by reason of death, resignation, suspension, or by the expiration of the commission of a postmaster, or by the rejection by the Senate or by the neglect or refusal of any person to take charge of the post-office to which he is appointed it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General, or the President (as the case may be) to supply such vacancy without delay, and it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General promptly to notify the Auditor of the change and every postmaster and his sureties shall be responsible under their bond for the safe keeping of the public property of the post-office, and the due performance of the duties thereof, until the expiration of the commission, or until a successor shall have been duly appointed and qualified and shall have taken possession of the office: Provided nevertheless, That in cases where there shall be a delay of sixty days in supplying such vacancy, the sureties may terminate their responsibility by giving notice in writing, to the Postmaster General, such termination to take effect ten days after sufficient time shall have elapsed to receive a reply from the Postmaster General: And provided also that the Postmaster General may when the exigencies of the service require, place such office in charge of a special agent until the vacancy can be regularly filled, and when such special agent shall have taken charge of such post office the liability of the sureties of the postmaster shall cease.

SEC 29 That all orders and regulations of the Postmaster General which may originate a claim, or in any manner affect the accounts of the postal service shall be certified to the Auditor for the Post Office Department.

SEC 30 That the Postmaster General may establish a blank agency for the Post Office Department to be located at Washington, District of Columbia.

SEC 31 That the Postmaster General may employ two special agents for the Pacific coast, and such number of other special agents as the good of the service and the safety of the mail may require.

SEC 32 That the salary of the special agents of the Post Office Department shall be at the rate of not more than one thousand six hundred dollars per annum and they shall be allowed for travelling and incidental expenses, while actually employed in the service, a sum not exceeding five dollars a day.

SEC 33 That whenever a special agent is required to collect or disburse any public money, he shall, before entering upon such duty, give bond in such sum and form, and with such security, as the Postmaster General may approve.

SEC 34 That the Postmaster General may employ when the service requires it, the Assistant Postmasters General and superintendents in his Department as special agents, and he may allow them their actual expenses not exceeding the amount expended by them as necessary travelling expenses while so employed.

SEC. 35 That the Postmaster General may appoint two agents to superintend the railway postal service, who shall be paid out of the appropriation for the transportation of the mail, at the rate of two thousand five hundred dollars per annum salary, with an allowance for travelling and incidental expenses while actively employed in the service of not more than five dollars a day, and the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department shall charge to the appropriation for mail transportation the salary and per diem of the assistant superintendents of the postal railway service and to the appropriation for the free-delivery system, the salary and per diem of the special agent detailed for that service, and the salary and per diem of the special agents employed in the money-order service shall be paid out of the proceeds of that service.

SEC 36 That the Postmaster General may establish resident mail agencies at the ports of Panama and Aspinwall, (New Granada,) Havana, (Cuba) and Saint Thomas, and such other foreign ports at which United States mails are taken to land and receive mails, as may in his judgement promote the efficiency of the foreign mail service, and may pay the agents employed by him at such ports out of the appropriation for transportation of the mail a reasonable compensation for their services and the necessary expenses for office rent, clerk-hire, office-furniture, and other incidentals, to be allowed him at each of such agencies.

SEC 37 That the Postmaster General may appoint an agent in charge of the mail on board of each of the mail steamers on the routes between San Francisco, Japan and China, between San Francisco and Honolulu, (Hawaiian Islands,) and New York to Rio Janeiro, who shall be allowed out of the appropriation for transportation of the mail, an annual salary of two thousand dollars each.

SEC 38 That the Postmaster General may establish, in connection with the mail steamship service to Japan and China, a general postal agency at Shanghai, China, or at Yokohama, Japan, with such branch agencies at any other ports in China and Japan as he shall deem necessary for the prompt and efficient management of the postal service in those countries, and he may pay the postal agents employed thereat a reasonable compensation for their services, in addition to the necessary expenses for rent, furniture, clerk hire, and incidental expenses.

SEC 39 That the Postmaster General may employ as many route agents as may be necessary for the prompt and safe transportation of the mail, who shall be paid out of the appropriation for transportation of the mail, at the rate of not less than nine hundred nor more than one thousand two hundred dollars per annum.

SEC 40 That the Postmaster General may appoint clerks for the purpose of assorting and distributing the mail in railway post-offices, who shall be paid out of the appropriation for transportation of the mail at the rate of not more than one thousand four hundred dollars per annum to the head clerks, nor more than one thousand two hundred dollars per annum to the other clerks.

SEC 41 That the accounts of the postal service shall be kept in such a manner as to exhibit the amount of revenues derived respectively from "letter postage," "book new paper, and pamphlet postage," "registered letters," "box-rents and branch offices," "postage stamps and envelopes," "dead letters," "fines and penalties," "revenue from money-order business," and "miscellaneous," and the amount of expenditures for each of the following objects, namely "transportation of the mail," "compensation of postmasters," "compensation of letter-carriers," "compensation of clerks for post-offices," "compensation of blank-agents and assistants," "mail depredations and special agents," "postage-stamps and envelopes," "ship, steamboat and way letters," "dead letters," "mail-bags," "mail locks and keys," and "postmarking and cancelling stamps," "wrapping-paper," "twine," "letter-balances," "office furniture," "advertising," "balances to foreign countries," "rent, light, and fuel for post-offices," and "stationery," and "miscellaneous."

SEC 42 That unclaimed money in dead letters for which no owner can be found, all money taken from the mail by robbery, theft, or otherwise, which may come into the hands of any agent or employee of the United States, or any other person whatever, all fines and penalties imposed for any violation of the postal laws, except such parts as may by law belong to the informer or party prosecuting for the same, and all money derived from the sale of waste paper or other public property of the Post-Office Department shall be deposited in the treasury, under the direction of the Postmaster General, as part of the postal revenue. And the Postmaster General is hereby directed to cause to be passed to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States for the service of the Post-Office Department, the net proceeds of the money-order business, and the receipts of the Post-Office Department derived from this source during each quarter shall be entered by the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post-Office Department, in the accounts of said Department under the head of "revenue from money-order business."

SEC 43 That all postages, box-rents, and other receipts [illegible] accounted for as part of the postal revenues [illegible] be [illegible].

SEC. 44. That postmasters may allow box-holders who desire to do so to provide lock boxes or drawers for their own use, at their own expense, which lock-boxes or drawers, upon their erection in any post-office shall become the property of the United States, and be subject to the direction and control of the Post Office Department, and shall pay a rental at least equal to that of other boxes in the same office, or if there be no other boxes in such office, of boxes in other offices of the same class, which rental shall be accounted for as other box rents.

SEC 45 That any officer, agent, postmaster, clerk, or other person employed in any branch of the postal service having temporary custody of any money taken from dead letters, any money received from the sale of waste paper or other public property of the Post-Office Department, or any money derived from any other source which by law is part of the postal revenues, who shall willfully neglect to deposit the same in the treasury of the United States or in some other depository authorized to receive the same, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and be subject to a fine not exceeding double the sum so retained or to imprisonment not exceeding three years, or both at the discretion of the court. And any person instructed by law with the sale of postage-stamps or stamped envelopes, who shall refuse or neglect to account for the same, or who shall pledge or hypothecate unlawfully dispose of them for any purpose whatever, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and shall be subject to the same penalty and punishment as are provided in this section for the embezzlement of money.

SEC 46 That the money required for the postal service in each year shall be appropriated by law out of the revenues of the service.

SEC 47 That the payments of money out of the treasury on account of the postal service shall be in pursuance of appropriations made by law, by warrants of the Postmaster General, registered and countersigned by the Auditor for the Post-Office Department, and expressing on their face the appropriation to which they should be charged.

SEC 48 That all payments on account of the postal service shall be made to persons to whom the same shall be certified to be due by the Auditor, but advances of necessary sums to defray expenses may be made by the Postmaster General to agents employed to investigate mail depredations, examine post routes and offices and on other like services, to be charged to them by the Auditor, and to be accounted for in the settlement of their accounts.

SEC 49 That the Postmaster General may transfer debts due to the Department from postmasters and others to such contractors as have given bonds, with security, to refund any money that may come into their hands over and above the amount found due them on the settlement of their accounts, but such transfers shall only be in satisfaction of legal demands for which appropriations have been made.

SEC 50. That in all cases where money has been paid out of the funds of the Post-Office Department under the pretense that service has been performed therefor when, in fact, such service has not been performed, or as additional allowance for increased service actually rendered, when the additional allowance exceeds the sum which, according to law, might rightfully have been allowed therefor, and in all other cases where money of the Department has been paid to any person in consequence of fraudulent representations, or by the mistake, collusion, or misconduct of any officer or other employee in the postal service, the Postmaster General shall cause suit to be brought to recover such wrong or fraudulent payment or excess, with interest thereon.

SEC 51 That when the Postmaster General is satisfied that money or property stolen from the mail, or property stolen from the mail, or the proceeds thereof has been received at the Department, he may, upon satisfactory evidence as to the owner deliver the same to him.

SEC 52 That the Auditor for the Post-Office Department shall state and certify quarterly to the Postmaster General an account of the money paid by postmasters out of the receipts of their offices, and pursuant to appropriations, on account of the expenses of the postal service, designating the heads under which such payments were made.

THE BANGOR & PISCATAQUIS SLATE COMPANY having attained a depth of from 100 to 140 ft perpendicular in the solid ledge, in their Quarry at Brownville, Maine, are enabled to offer to Builders, and those proposing to build, Roofing Slate, which, in soundness, (the slate being taken from less than 100 feet,) strength and elasticity of material, uniformity in thickness, dark and unchangeable color, ease and economy of preparation (for laying,) and, in fact, every requisite of a perfect slate, they do not hesitate to pronounce SUPERIOR to any, foreign or domestic, ever offered for sale in this country.

Orders by letter or otherwise will be promptly filled on application to the subscriber.

C. B. ABBOT,

Bangor April 15th 1871 Upper Steamboat Wharf

Extracts of Roots and herbs which almost invariably cure the following complaints:

DYSPEPSIA, Heart Burn, Liver complaint, and Loss of Appetite cured by taking a few bottles.

LASSITUDE, Low Spirits and sinking Sensation cured at once.

ERUPTIONS, Pimples, Blotches, and all impurities of the blood, bursting through the skin or otherwise, cured readily by following the directions on the bottle.

KIDNEY, Bladder and Urinary Derangement invariably cured. One bottle will convince the most skeptical.

WORMS expelled from the system without the least difficulty. Patients suffering from this prevalent disease will see a marked change for the better in their condition after taking one bottle. Worm difficulties are more prevalent than is generally supposed in the young, and they will find the Quaker Bitters a sure remedy.

NERVOUS DIFFICULTIES, Neuralgia, &c, speedily relieved.

RHEUMATISM, Swelled Joints and all Scrofula Afflictions removed or greatly relieved by this invaluable medicine.

BRONCHITIS, Catarrh, Convulsions, and Hysterics cured or much relieved.

DIFFICULT BREATHING, Pain in the Lungs, Side, and Chest almost invariably cured by taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

ALL DIFFICULT Female Derangements (almost invariably caused by a violation of the organic laws,) so prevalent to the American ladies yield readily to this invaluable medicine—the Quaker Bitters.

ALL IMPURITIES of the Blood and diseases incident to the same always cured by the Quaker Bitters, if taken according to the directions.

THE AGED find in the Quaker Bitters just the article they stand in need of in their declining years. It quickens the blood and cheers the mind, and paves the passage down the plane inclined.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.
